Good Afternoon All,

This e-mail is to inform you that two out of the four Buena Vista Investment Management Strategic Investment Tools have moved back into positive territory. The Leuthold Major Trend Index and the Buena Vista Conservative Buy/Sell Discipline are now both back in positive territory, while the InvesTech Negative Leadership Composite is moving closer to a “buy” signal. This indicator, as of last Friday, was still in negative territory. Our final indicator, The Coppock Guide, will be calculated as we move into November.

Based on this data, our Diversified Mutual Fund strategies are reducing allocations to money market fund investments. Once all of the Strategic Investment Tools move into positive territory we will reduce money market fund allocations back to normal levels.
